

Atanasoft® Announces Availability of AtanaSuite® 2010 and AtanaSuite SyncTool

Ames, IA – October 15th, 2009 - Atanasoft today announces availability of the AtanaSuite® 2010 family of products including our latest add-on product, AtanaSuite SyncTool. This revolutionary new product greatly simplifies the process of synchronizing separate Teradata warehouses, databases and appliances.

AtanaSuite SyncTool makes the management and maintenance of multiple Teradata warehouses, databases and appliances easy. It is built upon key AtanaSuite component technologies, including AtanaSuite IntelliSQL®. New features include intelligent object and data processing, powerful data relationship application logic and a drag-n-drop, point-n-click user interface. Bringing these features together in SyncTool makes for an extremely powerful and easy to use product for handling Teradata database synchronization. This includes production database data sampling and related data copying to QA, development, test or sandbox environments. SyncTool operations can be saved locally or to our AtanaSuite Active Server product for server-side execution and re-use, significantly expanding productivity benefits.

“Many of our customers requested help in keeping Teradata databases in-sync on separate platforms, appliances and environments. SyncTool is our answer!” states Dave Richardson, Vice-President for Atanasoft Product Development. “Our products have greatly improved the productivity of Teradata users worldwide. We recognized the development and integration of very sophisticated technology would be needed to satisfy this major obstacle facing Teradata DBAs and developers alike. SyncTool is the culmination of a significant development effort that started well over a year ago and has involved many AtanaSuite customers input and feedback in the process. Many thanks to everyone involved, we all agree this has been well worth the effort!”

The AtanaSuite 2010 product family, now featuring AtanaSuite SyncTool, reinforces AtanaSuite's dominant role as the leader in productivity, compression and synchronization products for Teradata.
